Mirage F.1C

As explained in the text above, the Mirage F.1C is a French military aircraft. It was inducted into service in 1967 and was later upgraded to improve its performance. The Mirage F.1C was mainly used for air-to-air combat missions.

Performance
- Maximum Speed: Mach 2.5
- Range: 1,500 nautical miles (2,778 km)
- Armament: 2 x 30 mm Adour G.12 and 4 x 500 kg bombs

Specifications
- Manufacturer: Dassault Aviation
- Powerplant: 2 x SNECMA Atar 9K.30 turbofan engines
- Weights:
  - Empty Weight: 10,500 kg
  - Maximum Take-Off Weight: 19,500 kg
- Dimensions:
  - Length: 17.8 m
  - Wingspan: 10.7 m
  - Height: 4.3 m

This aircraft was widely used by several NATO countries and was instrumental in providing a strong defense capability during the Cold War era.
Not available.