The separatist movements make their presence felt throughout the galaxy. It is not only on Coruscant that it enters into conflict. The Republic uses various planets for recon missions designed for their particular environment. In order to defend Kashyyk, the home planet of the Wookies and the Chewbaccas, against the attack of the Confederate Droid Army, among other things, the Army of the Republic has recourse to AT-RTs with a weight of 400 kg. Originally designed purely for reconnaissance purposes, this 75 km/h transport proves to be extremely effective and useful against enemy infantry units, not least thanks to the cannon located in the front of the AT-RT.